

> Crate services - removals and storage

> When any business undergoes a relocation or refurbishment, it can be a real headache.

Renting crates for removals or storage helps to keep costs down to a minimum and makes the whole process more efficient. It's easy to budget for a move, and there's no upfront capital outlay. Only the exact number of crates required will be delivered, and they're collected when unpacked, saving that all important space as there's no need to store crates when not in use.

Our crate hire service is designed to help you achieve a successful office, library or business move.

With over 120 years as a registered company, phs Teacrate provide a crate rental service for businesses and domestic moving. We support professional, commercial and domestic removal companies, facilities managers and any business needing to move or store effects - whatever its size or location.

Next day delivery is available on all stocked items through our national network of service centres, which also cater for customer collections.

We can provide timed deliveries, as well as same day and emergency deliveries in most instances.

Crates always arrive clean and ready for immediate use. They can be delivered direct to your specified location at an agreed time, leaving your staff free to get on with the job in hand.

We have strong manufacturing partnerships in the UK to produce and supply crates in line with customer demand.

Together with our continued investment in the manufacturing tooling for our industry-leading crates, this means that we are able to offer a wide product range - competitively priced, with a continuity of supply.

Barcoding service

Having an increased visibility is important when using crates for your move, we help our customers to track products in and out of each specific job and help minimise losses. We will also provide you with a spreadsheet data file for every barcoded crate delivered and collected.

Online crate rental and packaging sales

You can order rental crates and packaging online for next day delivery from our dedicated online stores. Our web ordering facility offers convenience if you have small ad hoc orders, or if you wish to refer any domestic or business clients to a trusted source of supply.

Advance move planning

Where a relocation project is high profile or unusual, we can provide an advance planning service, assisting our customers to determine and specify their project support requirements.
